NEVER TOO EARLY TO BE A SCIENTIST: HOW TO BE ENGAGED IN STEM AT UNM

Getting a head start in your career while going to school is the best way to prepare yourself for the workforce. A good GPA just isn't enough. Employers and professional schools are looking for student engagement. This panel will give you advice on the best way to get involved in research and improve your professional portfolio while at UNM. You will have the chance to hear from students going through the process right now.
